Xometry Releases Latest ‘Thomas Industrial Sourcing & Supply Chain Activity’ Report

January 24, 2022

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 24, 2022-- Xometry (NASDAQ: XMTR), the AI-driven digital marketplace that connects enterprise buyers with manufacturers globally, today released the latest ‘Thomas Industrial Sourcing & Supply Chain Activity Snapshot’ identifying the top products and services sourced by North American manufacturers as well as predictions for the quarter ahead. The report from Thomas, a leading platform for product sourcing, supplier selection, and marketing solutions for industry, identifies cyclical trends within the U.S. manufacturing and industrial economy drawn from the Thomasnet.com® platform, which now serves 1.4+ million registered users.

“Our Thomasnet.com platform sourcing data reveals exclusive insights and provides a telling narrative into the activity and trends shaping the industrial economy,” said Shawn Fitzgerald, president of Thomas, a Xometry company. “We predict that in the quarter ahead, ongoing global shipping delays and supply chain disruptions, as well as Industrial Internet of Things (IIoT) growth, will continue to have a major impact on industry at large. Thomas’ proprietary data and the Xometry marketplace together are strategic assets that can help decision-makers create resilient and impenetrable supply chains so they can smartly plan for the future.”

The complete Sourcing Activity Snapshot is now available for download. A brief preview includes:
